Exhibiting at trade shows can be very effective marketing avenues. But if you do not properly market your presence before, during and after the event itself, you may not be reaping the full benefits of your participation. By Advertising your presence to over 58,000 subscribers of Disaster Recovery Journal, you will certainly gain that extra, much needed exposure. Not to mention, as being an exhibitor with us at Spring World 2003, DRJ is offering some great discounts on some excellent advertising options as you will see listed to the right.
