Review of Session Synopsis

- The DRJ Rules & Regulations data base is intended to provide each of us a singular resource where we can go to and find the most complete and comprehensive list of BC-related rules and regulations.
- This session is intended to review how this data base is organized and used as a reference source.
- We will also introduce how you, the BC professional, can help us keep this valuable tool up to date.
- One goal is to broaden its' international rules & regulations, as well as gather new sources of interest to the BC profession.

Contents

"the rule of law is better than the rule of any individual."

- Law is a system of rules, usually enforced through a set of institutions
- A statute is passed by the legislature. A statute can have regulatory intent.
- A regulation is a form of secondary legislation which is used to implement a primary piece of legislation appropriately ...
- The reasonable person standard is often used legal term that originated in the development of the common law. ... The question of how a reasonable person might act, or what judgments they might make under the circumstances performs a critical role in legal reasoning in areas such as negligence, contract law, and criminal law.
- Due diligence is a term used for the performance of an act with a certain standard of care. It can be a legal obligation...
- The precedent on an issue is the collective body of judicially announced principles that a court should consider ...
- A set of widely accepted leading practices often becomes a de facto standard or precedent, and may become legally binding via the courts or through legislative or statutory law.

"f you like laws and sausages, you should never watch either one being made."

Conclusion

- As stated before ... “The DRJ Rules & Regulations data base is intended to provide each of us a singular resource where we can go to and find the most complete and comprehensive list of BC-related rules and regulations.”
- We recognize that this list will always be growing as contributions are made, and those contributions are a vital part of the usefulness of tool.
- This can only be accomplished with your help.
 - If you find a new regulation, send it to us.
 - If you see a way to enhance this list, let us know.
- This list is intended to help us all and is intended to be supported by us all as well.
